93% of students find a mentor at Denison

9:1 student-faculty ratio

My favorite thing about Denison is the relationship between the faculty and students. Whether I’m talking to a professor after class or catching up over a cup of coffee, I feel as though the relationships built outside of the classroom only further my academic experiences.

Denison combines the critical thought of a liberal arts education with the career-specific training employers seek.

academic rigor with real-world experience
A LIBERAL ARTS FOUNDATION

with practical application

Our students gain critical-thinking, creative problem-solving, and exceptional communication skills. They engage in hands-on research using the latest lab equipment. They create art by building theater sets or editing video in 5K retina workstations. And they take on consulting projects for the campus community and outside organizations.

“I’m an academic at heart. I love grappling with new ideas, and I wanted an environment where I could grow as a scholar. I found all that and more at Denison.”
