
That's the Denison difference.
You don't have to choose between the comfort of a small-town campus and the excitement of a thriving city.

WHERE WE ARE

a location that is both/and, not either/or Denison’s 931-acre campus rests on a hill above charming Granville and is just a short drive to the cultural hub of Columbus, Ohio, home to a vibrant arts and restaurant scene, internships and professional opportunities, and John Glenn Columbus International Airport (CMH).

Your Home on The Hill

We’re a tight-knit community with a family feel, yet a buzzing city—alive with the arts, entertainment, dining, and nightlife—is right next door.

- Founded in 1831
- 4-Year residential community
- 2,300 undergraduate students
No two students leave Denison with the same experience. But all students leave Denison with a life-changing experience.

HOW WE TEACH

a personal approach to education
Healthy Discussion and Hearty Debate

Our outstanding faculty members focus on engagement and academic rigor, so our students gain critical-thinking, creative problem-solving, and exceptional communication skills. Plus, our students leave Denison with agility, tenacity, and adaptability necessary for lifelong career success.
Denison combines the critical thought of a liberal arts education with the career-specific training employers seek.

WHAT YOU’LL LEARN

REAL-WORLD
EXPERIENCE

and off

Critical-thinking, creative problem-solving, and strong communication skills form the foundation of your learning, along with the relevant experience needed to step into a career or graduate school. Denison’s curriculum evolves with the times, with academic programs in data analytics, financial economics, global commerce, global health, and journalism, among many others.
Hands-on Learning, Skills-Based Training

We’re preparing students for the world that awaits them, as well as for careers that may not even exist yet. In addition to critical-thinking and communication skills, Denison students engage in hands-on research with the latest lab equipment and create new work from the ground up—like building theatre sets or editing video in 5K retina workstations. Students solve problems with the campus community and outside organizations through design-thinking and strategy consulting in the Red Frame Lab.

confidence and connections for your future
NEW FRIENDS AND NEW IDEAS

Life-changing experiences

Your perspective will become part of a fabric of different perspectives from students all over the world. Wherever you go—through every friend you make—you’ll discover new ways of looking at things, and you’ll teach others what it’s like to see the world through your eyes. Life-changing learning takes place at Denison, and it’s supported through many campus resources, including the International Student Support Office, the Multicultural Student Association, and the Center for Religious and Spiritual Life.
You’ll have a competitive advantage for whatever comes next.

Denison will prepare you for your career by focusing on your goals and by providing support and resources well after graduation.

The Austin E. Knowlton Center for Career Exploration

Our students intern and begin their careers in corporate, nonprofit, and public industries. They attend top-tier graduate programs. They also have access to the Knowlton Center’s signature programs, 16 career center coaches, and a powerful network of alumni and parents—who work in every field all over the world.

In addition to the Knowlton Center, Denison has three other centers dedicated to helping students gain professional and intellectual insights, skills, experiences, and connections.

96% of alumni are employed in their desired field or position.

$600K in funded internships annually.

Setting your career in motion

The Denison Edge Program in downtown Columbus, Ohio, is designed to do just that—give students an edge when it comes to career readiness. By working with a variety of companies, the program builds real-life business skills, professional acumen, and workplace experience to help meet today’s business needs.

The Red Frame Lab offers opportunities for students to flex their entrepreneurial and consulting skills. Students can workshop their own ideas or partner with companies across a large range of industries to solve real-world problems (and boost their network).

The Lisska Center for Scholarly Engagement is the go-to place for funded research and fellowship opportunities. The center works with students interested in paid one-on-one research opportunities with faculty mentors over the summer, conducting international research, and launching into post-graduate fellowships.
